Dear Mr. Barrows:

As the newly arrived Director of Medical Development, I recently noted your nice letter of last month, in which you posed the possibility that you and Mrs. Barrows might be considering Stanford in your long range estate planning.

I note the Dean has written to you, and I echo his invitation that we would be delighted to have you drop in on us when you are next in the Stanford area.

I am passing your article along to Dr. Joshua Lederberg, one of our Nobel laureates, who is the Executive Head of Genetics. I have asked him if he would comment generally on some of the questions raised in this material, and I know you will be hearing from him in the near future.

Best wishes,

Cordially,

Peter E. Pratt
Director of Medical Development
